

Zurich Fleet Intelligence

Zurich Fleet Intelligence (ZFI) combines the strength of vehicle telematics with the power of extensive reporting tools to offer valuable insights into key risk areas of driver behavior and vehicle performance.

Your challenge

Fleet operations are your key to mobility, but they also represent an important cost for most businesses. High fuel prices, combined with the rising costs of vehicle sourcing and maintenance, generate increasing economic pressure. In addition, governments, customers, employees and society expect you to deliver better service at a lower cost — all while demonstrating a commitment to reduce your impact on the environment.

Our solution

Zurich Fleet Intelligence integrates technology with risk management best practices, while offering a range of services that include:

- Referred list of telematics providers
- Technology and installation support
- Online reporting and analytics capabilities

We then combine these technology solutions with our consultative risk engineering service and other management tools to help you:

- Enhance profitability by reducing fleet operating costs
- Optimize vehicle journey planning and deployment
- Improve driver behavior and safety on the road to help reduce the occurrence of vehicle crashes
- Achieve increased fuel economy
- Control insurance costs under future policies
- Improve employees' driving skills and knowledge
- Reduce stress and fatigue among drivers through coaching and development
- Demonstrate commitment to reducing the fleet's impact on the environment
